

DAVENPORT DOTS

Mrs. William Joens, who has been at the Mercy hospital for the past three weeks, is now so far recovered that she is able to see her friends.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Daly yesterday and left a sweet and robust baby girl, Mr. Daly is the city editor of the Republican.

Frank Conant, who is employed at the W. W. Whitehead company's plant in West Davenport, caught his hand in a drill press and badly tore and lacerated the member. Dr. Wyant attended the injured man and sewed up the wound. The hand will be saved.

Mrs. Fred Naeve, Sr., died at the family home, 1025 West Seventh street, yesterday morning, after a year's illness. Mrs. Naeve would have been 67 years of age had she lived until next Sunday. She was born in Kiel, Germany, and came to Scott county when 11 years of age. She was married to Charles Smallfield, whose death occurred more than a quarter of a century ago, and about twenty-four years ago became the second wife of Fred Naeve, Sr. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, 1025 West Seventh street, and will be private. Interment will be made at Oakdale cemetery.

The other day it was reported that Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton had entered suit against the Tri-City Street Railway company for $5,000 damages, because of her injury in an alleged fall sustained from a street car near Twelfth and Harrison streets. Thursday the Tri-City Street Railway company filed an answer to the suit wherein it admits that it is a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Iowa and operating street cars on Harrison street, but specifically denies each and every other allegation of the plaintiff.

Detlef Brammer has conveyed to John Schick his property located at 1711 West Third street for the consideration of $7,000. The property is valuable and one of the most picturesque located on that thoroughfare. Mr. Schick will occupy it as a residence.

Sheriff McArthur Thursday served a notice upon Walter Boynton to the effect that his wife, Alice D. Boynton, would ask by suit for a bill of divorce against him, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment as the grounds for her action. William M. Chamberlin is her attorney. The plaintiff's petition, so says the notice, would be filed with the clerk of the court in a few days.

Shortly before noon Thursday Sheriff McArthur, guardian of the persons and properties of Edith and Hazel Slater, minors, drove out to the Orphans' home and served notice on Superintendent Cass that he was going to turn the children over to their maternal grandfather, who is a carpenter residing in Moline. The formality, however, of securing the consent of the board of control will have to be gone through with before the surrender is made. This case, famous in its way, and which it appears is now reaching its finality, was begun by Sarah Hill, police matron, who sued for a guardian for the two minors, Edith 13 years of age, and Hazel aged 11 years, children of a deceased mother and a father who abandoned them. George E. Hubbell appeared as the attorney for Mrs. Mithilda Rothermel, who asked that she be named as the guardian.

She was the wife of the well known East Davenport blacksmith. The deceased was a member of the True Sisters lodge, and the funeral will be held under its auspices.

At 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon after a brief illness occurred the death of Marx Fulscher in the 75th year of his age. The deceased was a native of Germany. His wife Frederica and four children, John, Michael and Jacob Fulscher, and Dorothea Heller, nee Fulscher, survive him. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, 1414 West Fourth street, with interment at the City cemetery. The deceased was a native of Dittmarsh, Holstein, Germany, and came here in 1869.

At Mercy hospital at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night occurred the death of George Collins, aged 45 years. The deceased was born and reared in this city, and made Davenport his home all his life at 1050 West Third street. The deceased was unmarried. He made his home with his mother and is survived by her and a brother, Richard.

Distressing news for many Davenporters came in a telegram from Chicago yesterday. The message announced the death in that city last evening of Mrs. George H. Ballou, after years of suffering from heart disease. Mrs. Ballou was married in Dubuque, where her husband was city editor of the Herald of that city. About the close of the civil war they came to Davenport, living here until Mr. Ballou's death about eleven years since. Mrs. Ballou then went to Chicago, which city has since been her home. During her years of health she was active in many a good cause as hundreds of Davenporters know. She was a member of the Episcopal church, a woman of the noblest impulses and kindest heart. Two children are left, Miss Susie Ballou, who for several years has been connected with the Chicago University, and George H., Jr., who is engaged in the lumber business at Tacoma. The funeral will be held in Dubuque today.

At the Morbionia hospital at 3 o'clock Wednesday occurred the death of Elma, wife of Theodore Madson, at the age of 33 years and 10 months. Cancer was the cause of death.

MOLINE MENTION

Employees of the grinding department at Deere & Co.'s presented a grievance to Superintendent Courtney before going to work yesterday morning, and on failing to have their request granted, walked out on a strike. The men demanded the discharge of their foreman. All but four or five of the 50 grinders quit work. The grinders have been dissatisfied with their new foreman, F. W. Sollo, who was promoted to that position on the starting up of the ship this season, to take the place of I. J. Danielson, resigned. It is claimed that the grievance against the new foreman is personal in nature and that Mr. Sollo is wholly capable of managing the department.

At the home of Martin L. Ekdahl, of 1845 Fourteenth avenue, the marriage of Edward Ekdahl and Miss Cora Flake, both of Galesburg, was solemnized Thursday evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock. Rev. A. G. Johnson of the Swedish Methodist church officiating. The groom is a brother of Mr. Ekdahl and is employed by the Adams & Johnson Saddle company in Galesburg. The couple came here from Galesburg Wednesday and will visit relatives here for a few days before returning to their future home.

The older male members of St. Mary's Catholic church of this city held a meeting a few nights ago and the outcome was the birth of the Marquette club, which promises soon to be well into a good work. The Marquette club was organized for the purpose of combining the higher duty of interest in the social life of the church with the more laborious, but not less interesting duty of church improvement. Although the church grounds and buildings have been greatly improved during the past year, still the work is one which demands constant attention. This attention will be paid it by the Marquette club, which at present has a membership of about 175. The regular meetings of the new organization have not yet been decided, the committee on by-laws not having yet reported. Officers were elected at the meeting as follows: President, Thomas Tunney; vice-president, H. T. Moss; secretary, George F. Raab; assistant secretary, E. Smith; treasurer, Ed. Coryn; sergeant-at-arms, Vital De Doncker.

The case against Frank Carter, charged with the theft of $25 from a fellow roomer, Thomas Smith, was dismissed by Justice Kerns yesterday.

Thursday afternoon Clyde Bell, who works for George Kimmeling in his barber shop at Seventh street and Eighteenth avenue, was down town and upon returning to the bluff got into an altercation with the Hendrickson brothers, the plasterers. During the progress of the argument

Bell is said to have armed himself with a brick for the purpose of self-defense, seeing that the affair was about to take a serious turn. Finally, Otto Hendrickson attempted to strike Bell and in the mix-up Bell went to the ground where he was attacked by Hendrickson's big hunting dog, some declaring that the master set the animal on the youth. Before he could be rescued from the maddened brute, the dog had bitten Bell under the left arm, tearing the flesh into his shoulder. Dr. Tremblay dressed the injuries which are quite painful, but not considered dangerous.

Mrs. W. H. Richards entertained a small company of ladies at tea Thursday evening for her guest, Mrs. Ellis, of Chicago.

President C. A. Barnard, of the library board, departed yesterday for Pittsburg to visit Andrew Carnegie and present to him the claims of the city for a larger library, appropriation, now that the city has guaranteed an annual income of $5,500 to the maintenance of the building to be erected with the $55,000 which it is hoped that he will give. Mrs. Barnard accompanied Mr. Barnard for a visit near Pittsburg with relatives, who are intimately acquainted with Mr. Carnegie.

Ernest Donald and his mother were riding in a buggy Thursday afternoon which was run into by a street car, throwing the occupants out but luckily they both escaped with nothing more serious than bruises. Mr. Donald was driving out of Hans Peterson's livery barn, on Fifteenth street and stopped for a north-bound car, but he did not notice the south-bound car, which ran into the buggy before it could be stopped.

Harry Hiller departed yesterday evening for his home in Denver, Colo., after a week's visit with his sister, Mrs. Peter Kail, of Sixteenth street.

PYGMALION AND THE STATUE!

GALATEA

The Marble Statue, is an Illusion illustrating the beautiful Greek Myth by the same name.

PYGMALION

Was a sculptor, who had made with his wonderful skill, a statue of a woman so beautiful that no living woman compared with it. It was prevented from moving only by modesty. He at last fell in love with his counterfeit creation, and prayed with the gods to endow it with life.

The festival of Venice was at hand, and when Pygmalion came home from the temple—after prayer and sacrificing—to his amazement his prayer had been answered. There, instead of the cold marble, was a real living woman—one of the most marvelous stories of a creation ever told.

A Marble Statue Brought to Life.

The illusion truthfully illustrates this marvelous change in full view of everybody. The marble softens, life steals into the veins, the eyes open and a living woman appears and speaks.
